Phytobiophysics Flower Remedies are vibrational essences. Vibrational medicine works in a way that no other form of medicine can. It is able to deal with the cause of problems by releasing energy blocks that, if left untreated, may lead to health problems. This introductory workshop will provide you with the background and practical knowledge to enable you to start using the Flower Formulas straight away for friends and family, as well as with your clients.

The Introduction to Phytobiophysics Workshop will:

- Provide you with a good understanding of the 20 individual Flower Remedies and their principal uses & enable you to select the most appropriate remedies and work out dosage using a variety of methods, including muscle testing
- Show how the remedies work in combination with nutrition and how they can help alleviate the effect of pollution, toxicity, electrical & geopathic stress as well as alleviate adverse side effects of medication, chemicals, radiation, chemotherapy & vaccines.

The one day workshop will provide a balance of theory and practical exercises to help you gain a useful insight into the many benefits & uses of the Flower Remedies. You will also be able to identify which are your priority remedies - to give you an insight into the balance you need right now, physically, emotionally or spiritually.

Cost of the workshop: £45 (in group of two or more) £65 (individual 1:1) Includes attendance certificate + comprehensive reference notes. A practitioner tester kit (contains 30 pillules of each of the 20 remedies) can be purchased on the day. Cost around £40. The course can be taken as one full day, or as two half days to allow for practice in selecting & using the remedies between sessions. Dates can be arranged to suit you.
